

Geronimo Stilton

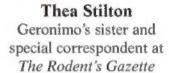

Geronimo Stilton A learned and brainy mouse; editor of

The Rodent's Gazette

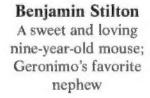

Trap Stilton An awful joker: Geronimo's cousin and owner of the store Cheap Junk for Less

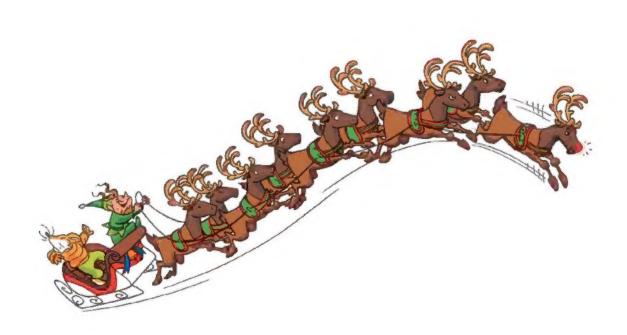

Geronimo Stilton

THE CHRISTMAS TOY FACTORY

Scholastic Inc.

New York Toronto London Auckland Sydney Mexico City New Delhi Hong Kong Buenos Aires All rights reserved under International and Pan-American Copyright Conventions. No part of this publication may be reproduced, transmitted, downloaded, decompiled, reverse engineered, or stored in or introduced into any information storage and retrieval system, in any form or by any means, whether electronic or mechanical, now known or hereafter invented, without the express written permission of the publisher. For information regarding permission, please contact Atlantyca S.p.A., Via Leopardi 8, 20123 Milan, Italy; e-mail foreignrights@atlantyca.it, www.atlantyca.com.

eISBN 978-0-545-39239-6

Copyright © 2006 by Edizioni Piemme S.p.A., Corso Como 15, 20154 Milan, Italy.

International Rights © Atlantyca S.p.A.

English translation © 2006 by Atlantyca S.p.A.

GERONIMO STILTON names, characters, and related indicia are copyright, trademark, and exclusive license of Atlantyca S.p.A. All rights reserved. The moral right of the author has been asserted.

Based on an original idea by Elisabetta Dami.

www.geronimostilton.com

Published by Scholastic Inc., 557 Broadway, New York, NY 10012. SCHOLASTIC and associated logos are trademarks and/or registered trademarks of Scholastic Inc.

Stilton is the name of a famous English cheese. It is a registered trademark of the Stilton Cheese Makers' Association. For more information, go to www.stiltoncheese.com.

Text by Geronimo Stilton
Original title Il mistero degli elfi
Cover by Giuseppe Ferrario
Illustrations by Danilo Barozzi, Silvia Bigolin, and Frencesco Castelli,
Christian Aliprandi (coloring), Archivio Piemme (maps)
Graphics by Merenguita Gingermouse, Michela Battaglin, and Yuko Egusa

Special thanks to Kathryn Cristaldi Translated by Lidia Morson Tramontozzi Interior design by Kay Petronio

First printing, October 2006

Two Blocks of Ice

It was a cold — I mean, freezing — I mean, teeth-chattering December morning. Snow covered New Mouse City, and I was trudging through it on my way to work. Brrr! My paws felt like two blocks of ice.

I finally got to the office and . . . Oops, silly me! I forgot to introduce myself. My name is Stilton, Geronimo Stilton. I am the publisher of The Rodent's Gazette, the most famouse newspaper on Mouse Island.

As I was saying, I got to the office and sat down at my desk. But before I could start working, a plump, furry mouse burst through the door. It was my grandfather, William Shortpaws, also known as CHEAP MOUSE WILLY. Rats!

Don't get me wrong, I love my grandfather. But for the past month, he has been driving me up a clock!

of The Rodent's Gazette. He started it a long, long time ago. He doesn't work here anymore. Lately, he's into golf. But he still loves to stop by the office and check up on things.

Grandfather is one TOUGH, nononsense rodent. His favorite saying is: All work and no play makes a mouse RICH, RICH!

Grandfather William began thumping his paw on my messy desk. A stack of papers crashed to the floor. "Grandson, this desk is a disgrace! Have you been working or eating cheese bonbons? Remember, I built this company with my own bare paws. If you're not careful, I'm going to come back and you'll only be in charge of the water cooler!" he thundered, snapping my whiskers.

I gulped. My worst nightmare is my grandfather coming back to head The Rodent's Gazette. And lately, I was afraid he might do just that!

"I'm doing my best," I squeaked meekly.

Grandfather rolled his eyes. "Tell it to the paw!" He smirked, holding one paw toward me. Then he pulled my whiskers again. And stormed out.

I got right to work. What else could I do? I was worried. And besides, I don't know a thing about water coolers.

I Dreamed I Was Sleeping

It showed every day for a whole week. I had to put snowshoes on my paws just to get to work! I would have loved to call in sick, but I couldn't. What if Grandfather William found out? I'd be out of a job faster than you could say "egg and cheese on a cream-cheese bagel." Instead, I got up every day at the crack of dawn and dragged myself to the office. There I read manuscripts, signed checks, and researched stories. I was so busy

I never even took a lunch break. I just mibbled on some stale cheddar crackers that I kept in a bowl on my desk.

Finally, at midnight, I'd head home. I was so tired I'd fall into my bed and start snoring before my snout even hit the pillow. I dreamed I was sleeping.

The days flew by. I was exhausted! But I had to keep working. I couldn't let Grandfather William take over the newspaper. I loved my job. Too bad it was taking over my life!

Uncle Geronimo, Why Didn't You Come?

On the morning of December 24, something AWFUL happened. I was at my office reading some mail that had piled up on my desk. I came across a [eller from my dear, sweet

Dear Uncle Geronimo,
Can you please, please, please come to my school's Christmas play on December 24
at 9:00 A.M.?
Can't wait to see you!
Love, Benjamin

nephew Benjamin.
When I read it, I nearly jumped out of my fur. It was an invitation to his Christmas play. I twisted my tail up in a

"December 24!" I squeaked. "Moldy mozzarella balls, that's today!" I was so busy with WOFK that I had completely forgotten.

I ran to Benjamin's school as fast as my paws could carry me. But it was no use. When I got there, the play was already over.

Principal Sharp Whiskers shook his head when he saw me. "Mr. Stilton, why are you so late? Your nephew is crushed," he scolded.

Just then, I noticed a little mouse sitting all alone on the stage. It was Benjamin. He looked at me sadly.

"Uncle Geronimo, why didn't you come?
You always come to my Christmas play.
And this year I had the best part. I was one of the fur trees," he said.

I felt awful. How could I have let my favorite nephew down? I grabbed his paw. "Come on, I'm going to buy you an early Christmas present," I said, smiling.

I took him to the best toy store in town, THE ROLL IN ING.
Have you ever been there?
The place is huge! The salesmouse showed us a superscary cat mask and a squeak-controlled race car. But all Benjamin wanted was to go home. When we got there, he ran inside before I could even say good-bye.

I felt lower than a sewer rat. I hung my head and headed back to the office.

What else could I do? I had so much work to do!

I Don't Have Time for Surprises!

When I got back to the office, I slumped behind my desk. What a rotten day. How could I have forgotten my favorite nephew? If only I didn't have so much work to do. Just then, I noticed the light on my answering machine blinking. I hit the MESSAGE button. "Why aren't you at your desk, Geronimo?! Don't make me come in there!" Grandfather William's voice bellowed through the speaker.

I cringed. Suddenly, I heard a knock at the door. Who could it be? A delivery mouse wheeled in a HUGE package. It was decorated with a shiny bow and some tiny yellow bananas.

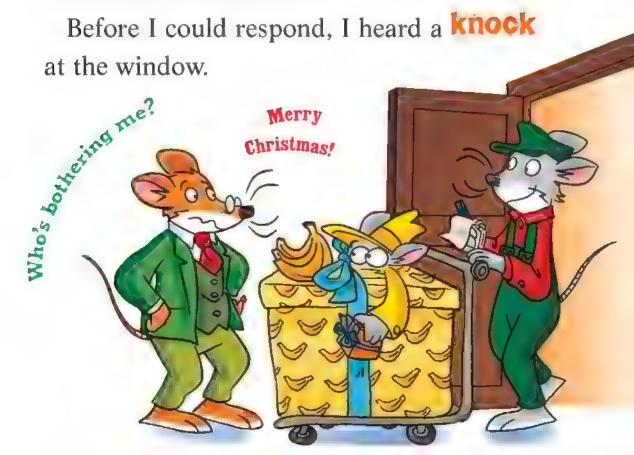

"I love bananas! B-a-n-a-n-a-s!"

I looked around to see who had spoken, but didn't see anyone.

Then, a sooty gray rat sprang out from the package. He was wearing a long trench coat and matching hat.

It was my friend Hercule Poirat, the famouse detective!

He handed me a little PACKAGE. "Surprised, Stilton? I wanted to wish you a Merry Christmas!" he shouted.

My eyes nearly popped out of my fur. A rodent was hanging in front of the window ledge. He had a crew cut and big, bulging muscles. He was DANGLING from a bungee cord.

I opened the window with shaking paws. Was he some kind of spy? Was he from another planet?

"Hey, fellow camper!" the rodent yelled.

"Just dropping by to say happy holidays!"

It was my friend Burt Burlyrat, otherwise known as B.B. We'd met at a survival boot camp deep in the jungle. Why would a scaredy-mouse like me go to boot camp? Well, that's another story.

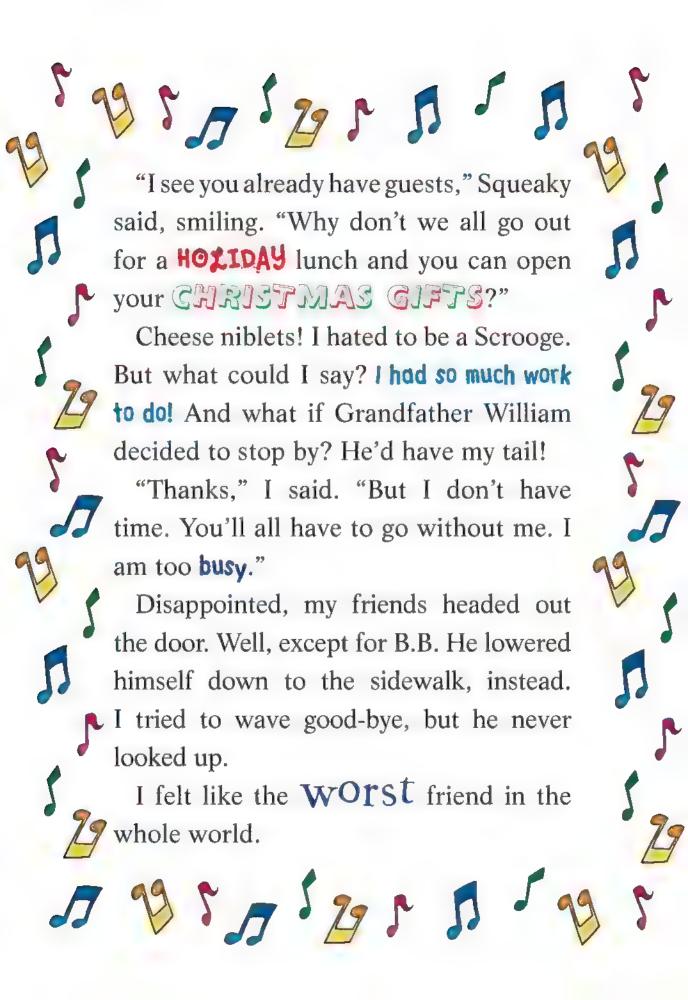

Now my teeth began to chatter watching B.B. sway in the wind. I felt like I was about to have a nervous breakdown. Of course, Burt didn't seem to mind that he was dangling cheddar perfume stood in the doorway holding a gift. She had amber-colored fur, twinkling eyes, and a dazzling smile. It was my dear friend Squeaky Star.

Do you know Squeaky? She is a very famouse singer. Her , Under a Cheddar Moon, has been number one on the charts for almost a whole year. We met a while ago on top of Kilimanjaro during another one of my crazy adventures. I'll have to tell you about it sometime.

I Don't Have Time to Travel!

The Show kept falling, thicker and thicker.

I had my snout buried deep in a pile of papers when my friend Petunia Pretty Paws stopped by. She is a fascinating mouse. I guess you could say I have had a huge of crush on her forever. Too bad whenever I'm around her, I turn into a babbling, blundering fool. I stammer. I stutter. Sometimes I can't even tell my left paw from my right.

Petunia hugged me. "Geronimo!" she squeaked.

"Yes, um, that's me, Seronimo Gilton. I mean Geronimo Stilton," I mumbled, grinning.

Petunia GIGGLED and grabbed my paw. "I have the most exciting news! I'm headed off to Australia after Christmas to film a documentary about dolphins. Why don't you come with me?" she squeaked. "Just think, right now the sun is shining in Australia."

I stared out the window. Oh, it would be so nice to get away. Then I looked at the stack of papers on my desk.

"Ahem, thanks, but I'm really too busy to go," I said.

Petunia put her paws on her hips. "Yes, yes. I know you're a very busy mouse, but there are some things in life that are more important than work, G," she scolded.

I chewed my whiskers. Maybe she was right.

Maybe I should take a break.

I was just about to say yes to Petunia when I noticed the big, framed picture of Grandfather William on the wall.

His piercing black eyes seemed to be glaring at me. "All work and no play makes a mouse rich, rich, rich!" Grandfather's voice echoed in my head. "Get working, Nephew!"

"Sorry, Petunia," I muttered as she turned and walked out.

党和关本党和关本党和

I Don't Have Time to Celebrate!

After Petunia left, I tried concentrating on my work. I didn't even look out at the falling snow. I was interrupted by the sound of rodents giggling outside my door.

Suddenly, the door burst open. It was all of my coworkers.

"Merry Christmas to you, Merry Christmas to you, Merry Christmas, dear Geronimo!" they squeaked at the top of their lungs.

I was feeling grumpier and grumpier. How was I supposed to get any work done?

Before I had a chance to complain, Shorty Tao grabbed my paw. She dragged me away from my desk. "Want to help us decorate the Christmas tree?" she asked.

"How about a little cheesecake?" Ratsy suggested.

"Or a cup of hot cheddar?"
Patty added.

"Or you could help me hang up the mistletoe," Gigi said, winking.

I was beginning to get a rat-sized headache. I didn't have time for Christmas this year. I had too much work to do!

Right then, everyone broke into an ear-piercing chorus of "Jingle Bells." Now even my fur had a pounding headache.

Finally, I couldn't take it anymore.

"Enoooough!" I shrieked.

A deep silence fell over the room. Everyone stared at me, stunned.

"Ahem, I just want everyone to um, go back to work," I muttered.

Puzzled, Mouseanna waved a

Puzzled, Mouseanna waved a photo under my nose. It was a picture of the CHRISTON 15

"But, last year, you said you wished we could have a Christmas party every day!" she squeaked.

I coughed and thought of Grandfather William. "Yes, well, I changed my mind," I mumbled as I slunk back to my office.

I felt awful. But I had a ton of work to do.

I sat at my desk and started to read a manuscript. Outside, it was quiet. In fact, the whole place was quieter than THE WHISPERING WHISKERS

CEMETERY. A horrible thought occurred to me: What if my coworkers were so mad that they were waiting behind my office door? When I opened it, they'd throw moldy mozzarella balls at me!

I peeked out of the door. Everyone was seated at their desks, working silently.

I felt much better. Well, not that much better. Everyone did look kind of sad. But at least I wasn't going to get hit with ROTTEN CHEESE.

I Don't Have Time for Christmas!

It was getting later and later and snowier and snowier.

I was still up to my snout in WOFK!Just then, my cousin Trap called.

"Hey, Gerry Berry, what are you still doing in the office? Get your tail out here! We're all waiting for you at the family's Christmas Trap Eve dinner!" he yelled.

I shook my head. For some reason, I couldn't think of anything but WOrk, WORK, WORK.

"I don't have time for dinners.

I don't have time for Christmas.

I'm just too busy," I muttered, thinking of Grandfather William taking over the paper.

My sister, Thea, grabbed the phone.

"Geronimo, don't give me any of your lame excuses!" she ordered.

Aunt Sweetfur got on the phone next. "My dear nephew, Christmas won't be the same without

But I had already made up my mind. I had to finish my work, no matter what!

Squeak

Squeak

DING, DONG

Ding Dong Ding Dong Ding Dong Ding Dong Ding Dong Ding Dong D uta Buoa

The snowy night went on.

I worked and worked and worked until I heard the town's clock strike midnight.

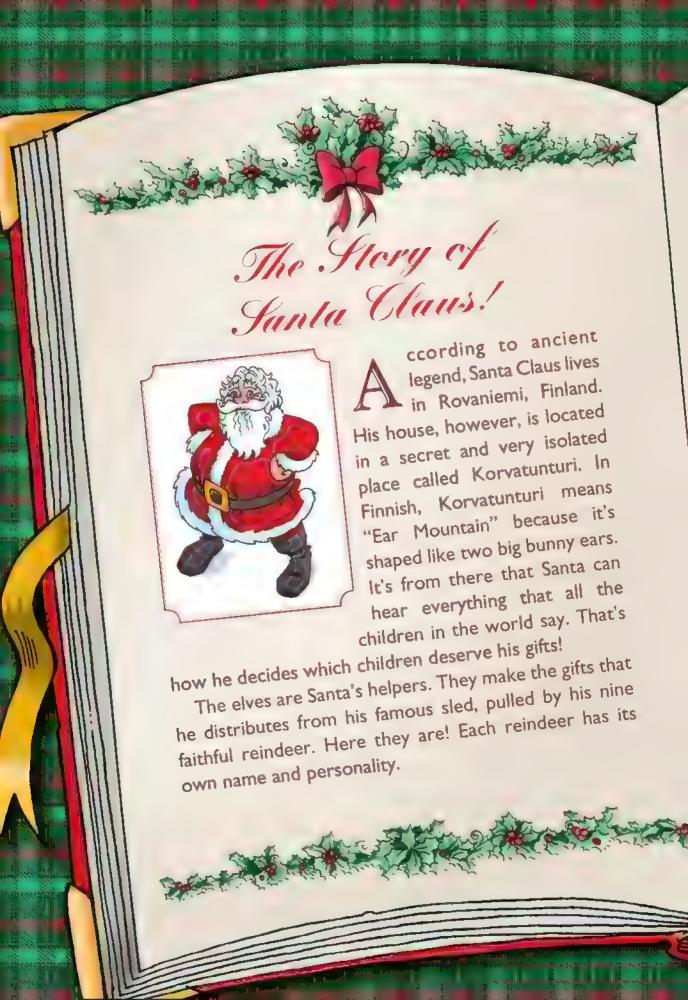

Ding Dong Ding Dong Ding Dong

I was tired. So very tired. I wanted to go home and snuggle up in my bed. But it was like there was a little workaholic mouse inside my head. I knew if I stopped I would never finish anything!

Hours later, I finally finished. Now the only thing left for me to do was to write a story on the real spirit of Christmas to be published in the newspaper the next day.

To get some inspiration, I leafed through a book titled The Story of Santa Claus! But I was so tired that I fell asleep with my snout right in the middle of the book. Snore, snore,

Captain of the reindeer team

The red-nosed reindeer

Believes she should be captain of the reindeer team

Once flew so high, he almost collided with a

His antiers always point north!

Is Prancer's twin

Like her twin, loves to dance

is the most graceful and acrobatic of all the reindeer

Has been married to Vixen for more than two hundred years

I don't know how long I had been sleeping, but I woke up mid-snore. There was somebody knocking at my window. KNOCK, KNOCK! A weird little face was squashed against the windowpane.

"Moldy mozzarella!" I squeaked. I was so frightened all of my fur stood at attention.

A shrill little voice yelled back, "Hey there, open up. I've got something to tell you!"

My teeth began chattering so hard I probably had permanent tooth damage. I'd NEVER be able to eat hard cheese again. No more supersharp cheddar. No more Swiss.

I was still thinking about hard cheeses when a chubby elf with a tiny beard tumbled in through the fireplace. Moldy mozzarella! That's what I get for not opening the window, I guess.

"Are you the magazine mouse?" he asked, looking me up and down suspiciously.

I blinked. "Well, actually, I run a newspaper," I said. "My name is Stilton, Geronimo Stilton."

"Yeah, yeah, same thing," the elf muttered.

He told me his name was Ding-Dong.

Santa Claus had sent him to find me. "He wants You to come and visit," the elf explained.

I was shocked. Why would Santa Claus want to see me? Ding-Dong didn't know, either.

But how could I say no to Santa?

I'm Too Young to Die!

The next thing I knew, I was sitting in the back of a sleigh pulled by nine prancing reindeer.

"Hit it, guys!" Ding-Dong shouted. Instantly, the reindeer took off into the sky:

Up, up, up we flew. Clouds will led on for dear life. Did I mention I'm AFRAID of flying?

Meanwhile, Ding-Dong was humming happily beside me. "Hey, Magazine Mouse, isn't this sled awesome?" he shrieked, zipping through the sky. Then, before I could squeak, "NO! STOP! I'M TOO YOUNG TO DIE!" he started showing me all of the flying tricks he could do. The sled dipped and soared up and down through the sky.

My stomach dropped. My fur turned the color of moldy cheese.

"D-d-d-ing-D-d-d-ong!" I stammered. "I think I'm g-g-g-oing to b-b-be sick!"

The elf didn't answer. He was too busy guiding the reindeer to do somersaults in the sky. "Yahoo!" he yelled, picking up SPEED. What was that old saying? "Never talk to a strange elf"? Especially an elf with a name like Ding-Dong.

I was still scolding myself when I noticed the air had suddenly grown colder. It was downright whisker-freezing!

I opened my eyes. What a magical sight. Snow and ICICLE-covered trees glistened like jewels in the moonlight.

We had reached the North Pole.

OF COURSE I'M SANTA CLAUS!

Seconds later, Ding-Dong pulled the sled to a screeching halt in front of a log cabin.

"This is it, Magazine Mouse. This is where Santa lives," the elf said. He walked up to the door and rang the bell. "It's me, Ding-Dong!" he announced. "I've brought the magazine mouse!"

I coughed. "Well, ahem, actually, sir, I run a newspaper. My name is Stilton, Geronimo Stilton," I corrected him.

A booming

voice rang out from inside. "Of course. Come on in, dear Geronimo, I've been waiting for you!" it said.

I entered hesitantly. A man with a big ROUND belly and a white beard sat in a comfy armchair. He wore a long, fuzzy red robe and slippers with the initials S.C.

"Would you be, I mean, that is, are you him? Are you Santa Claus?" I asked, surprised.

When he laughed, his belly shook like a bowlful of jelly. "III. In III. Of course I'm Santa Claus!" he said in a deep, booming voice. "Who did you think I was? The Easter Bunny?"

A BIT OF A PICKLE

A minute later, a chubby woman with white hair and sky-blue eyes marched into the room. Can you guess who she was? Yep — Mrs. Claus, Santa's wife.

When she saw me, she stopped and stared. I smiled. "Mrs. Claus, my name is Stilton, Geronimo Stilton," I said.

Suddenly, she broke into a wide grin. "Oh, Geronimo." She beamed. "We've been waiting for you. Please sit down. Can I get you anything? HOT CHOCOLATE?

Cookies? A cheddar-cheese log?" She disappeared into the kitchen.

I turned my attention to Santa. "But, Santa, why? Why did you bring me here?" I squeaked.

Santa sighed. "Well, Geronimo, I seem to be in a little bit of a pickle. I won't be able to deliver the Christmas toys this year," he said.

I gasped. What? That was impossible! I looked closely at Santa. Were his legs broken? Was he having a bad hair day? That's when I noticed his face. It was covered with tiny red spots!

"YIKES!" I cried.

Santa nodded. "I see you've noticed my little problem," he said. "Yes, Geronimo, I've come down with the MEASLES right on my busiest night of the year!"

This was awful. Santa and the elves had worked all year making toys for children. And now they wouldn't be able to deliver them.

A tear fell from Santa's eye and landed in his fluffy white beard. "This is why I need your help, Geronimo. I cannot break my PROMISE to the children. Will you deliver the TOYS?" he asked.

Me? Deliver toys? I had trouble scampering and chewing gum at the same time.

"Why me, Santa?" I squeaked.

He smiled. "Because I have read every one of your books, dear Geronimo, and you have been on so many crazy adventures, this one will be a piece of cake!" he explained.

I was a nervous wreck. How could I, a newspaper mouse, take over Santa's job? It was such an enormouse responsibility.

"But what if I mess up? What if the reindeer make fun of me?" I squeaked.

Mrs. Claus put her arm around me. "Of course you can do it, Geronimo. You just have to believe in yourself," she said.

For some reason, that made me feel a little better. Maybe delivering the toys wouldn't be so hard after all. "I'll do it!" I pecipep.

Santa and Mrs. Claus beamed. Then Santa wrote something on a piece of paper. He rolled it up, and handed it to me. Then he closed his EYES and went right to sleep.

WHAT AM I? CHOPPED LIVER?!

On my way out, Ding-Dong came running up to me. "So, Mousey, what did Santa tell you?" he asked.

I sighed. "Santa has the MEASLES.

He asked me to help him distribute all the TOYS to children around the world,"

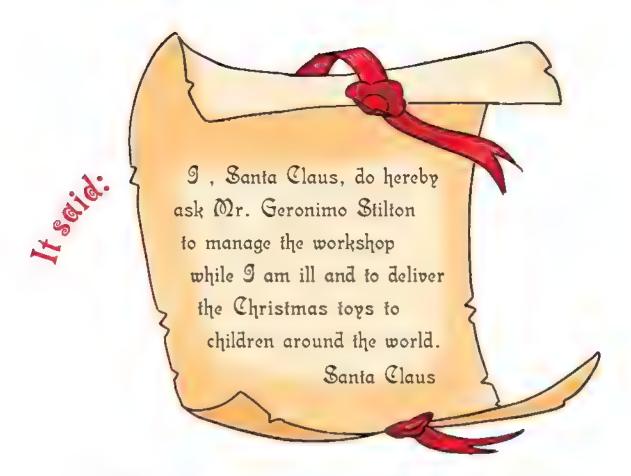

I said.

The elf turned blue, then purple, then

"WHAT?!" he shrieked.
"He asked YOU, a
NOUSE, to help him?
I don't believe it!"

To prove my point, I unrolled the paper.

When Ding-Dong finished reading, he looked like he was about to explode. "This is so unfair! Why did he ask y©u to help him? What am I? Chopped liver?!" he fumed. "This is all because I got a few speeding tickets. What's the big deal?"

I decided not to mention that doing somersaults with the sleigh probably didn't help, either. I felt sort of sorry for the little elf.

"Well, I guess you need to know how to get to Santa's workshop," he grumbled.

"Follow me. I'll probably have to tell you how EVERYTHING works, too."

I nodded. "Ahem, well yes, thank you. To be honest, I don't know anything about making TOY at all," I confessed.

Ding-Dong rolled his eyes. "I kind of guessed it. Imagine a thagazine thouse running Santa's toy factory! What do you know about toys? All you know about is your silly little magazine!" he complained.

I wanted to point out that The Rodent's Gazette was a newspaper, but I figured that now wasn't the time. Ding-Dong was already in a jealous rage. There was no telling what he might do next! Throw a fit. Throw a TANTRUM. Throw a large, skull-crushing stone. Instead, I followed him quietly into a huge log WAREHOUSE.

That is, I tried to follow him, but he slammed the door in my snout. "Youch!"

I screamed.

He snickered. "Oops, sorry, Mousey."

I practiced my deep yoga breathing. Stay calm, I told myself. No use getting worked up over a JEALOUS ELF. Still, I had to admit, Ding-Dong was really starting to get under my fur.

INSIDE SANTA'S WORKSHOP

Massaging my snout, I stumbled into Santa's word in the santa's what an amazing place! The sound of whirring and buzzing machines filled the air. Elves bustled about here and there, making dolls and baby blocks, toy trains and tracks, baseball bats and balls, and soft, CUDDLY TEDBY BEARS. Some tapped away at computer keyboards, programming the

latest \|\ldot\|\DEO\|\ games.

Just then, an elf working the printing press noticed me. "Hey, everybody, it's Geronimo Stilton! He's come to help Santa!" he shouted.

"Three CHEER! for Geronimo Stilton!" another elf added. The room erupted in cheers.

I felt so welcomed. I felt so honored. I felt so much pain. I looked down.

Ding-Dong had just dropped a HEAVY wooden box right on my paw. I let out a yelp. "Cheese niblets!"

"Oops, so sorry, Mousey." Ding-Dong smirked.

Stay calm, I told myself as I gnashed my teeth.

STOP THE CLOCK

The elves helped me load all of the gifts onto the sleigh. Then one of them handed me a loong list of names and addresses. I was just glancing over them when Ding-Dong backed the sled up, right over my tail. "Yikes!" I cried.

The elf giggled under his breath. "Oops, so sorry, Mcusey," he murmured.

Stay calm, I told myself as I twisted my throbbing tail up in knots.

The sled was packed. The reindeer were in place. Everything was ready. There was just one thing I had to ask before I left.

"How am I ever going to deliver all of these gifts in just one "IGHT? There are millions of kids all over the world!" I cried, worried. I pictured the headlines the day after Christmas: SANTA IS A NO-SHOW IN GREECE! NO TOYS FOR TOTS IN NORTH AMERICA!

But Mrs. Claus just smiled. "Don't worry, Geronimo," she said. "Tonight is a magical night. Time will stop only for you. That way, you will be able to give out all of the gifts."

(hee eca el I was impressed. If I could make time stop, I'd get all of my work done on time. I'd make it to Benjamin's play.

Maybe I'd even be the first mouse in line at Cheesy Doughnuts on Sunday mornings.

I was still thinking about cheesy doughnuts as I waved good-bye to Santa and Mrs. Claus.

"Have a nice trip, Geronimo!" the elves called. Well, except for Ding-Dong. I'm pretty sure he stuck his tongue out at me.

Two minutes later, we took off into the sky. The reindeer SOARED through the clouds. A sense of peace and calm fell over me. The reindeer knew exactly where to go. We stopped in every city, large and small. We stopped on islands and in tiny villages. It was an amazing ride! As I dropped off the gifts in each place, I pictured the faces of the happy children opening them the next day.

Christmus truly was a MAGICAIL holiday!

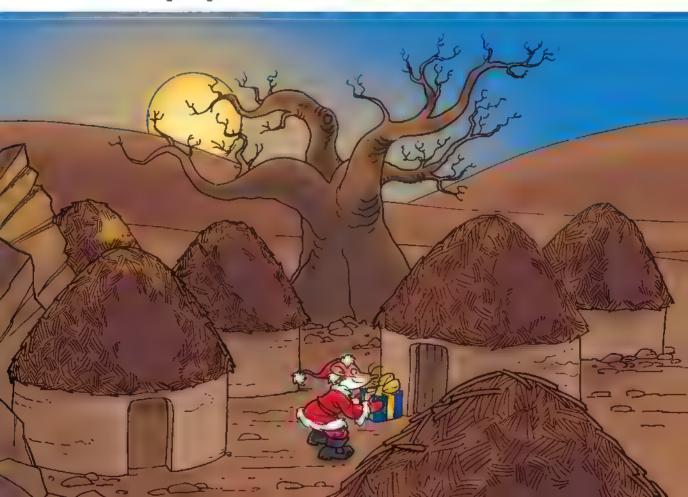

NOT JUST ANY OLD ELF

Finally, I delivered the LAST gift. It was for a little girl named Zoe in a small village in Africa. I wished I could stay and learn more about the people who lived there. But I had to get the sled back to the North Pole. And besides, how would I explain why a mouse was dressed up in a Santa suit?

The reindeer headed back to Santa's workshop. I was glad. My tummy had been rumbling for a while now. I couldn't wait for one of Mrs. Claus's delicious cheddar logs.

As we drew closer to the toy factory, I noticed an elf in the middle of the snow. And not just any old elf. It was Ding-Dong. He was sitting all alone by a FROZEN lake, staring into the night.

"Hey, Ding-Dong!" I called. "Hop in. I'll give you a ride back to the village."

The ELF looked up at me and rolled his eyes. "Well, if it isn't Mr. Big Shot Magazine Mouse," he snorted. "Don't you have more presents to deliver?" He stormed out onto the frozen lake and started twirling around. "Look at me!" he yelled. "I'm Santa Mouse. Squeak! Squeak!"

Suddenly, there was loud ERACK! I stared in horror as the ice split open.

"Watch out!" I squeaked. It was too late.

Within seconds, Ding-Dong had vanished beneath the icy waters of the frozen lake.

Without thinking, I scampered out after him. My paws made the ice creak NOISILY beneath me. I was a nervous wreck. What if I couldn't save Ding-Dong?

I lay down on the ice and slid toward the elf. I could just make out his tiny hand waving desperately in the air.

"Help!" he cried in a shaky voice.

Quickly, I took off my belt and threw it toward him. "Grab the other end!"

Ding-Dong grabbed the belt. Very slowly, I managed to pull him out of the freezing water. I wrapped him up in my warm red jacket. Then I brought him back to the village.

Santa and Mrs. Claus were shocked to see what had happened to Ding-Dong. Mrs. Claus made him lie on the sofa. She gave him a cup of warm milk with lots of the sofa.

After he warmed up, Ding-Dong threw me a shy smile. "Guess you're not such a bad mouse after all, Geronino," he said. Then he jumped up and shook my paw.

I grinned. Ding-Dong wasn't big on words.

But I knew he was grateful that I had saved his life.

Friends!

CHEDDAR LOGS FOR EVERYONE

I was feeling warm and happy. What a night! I sat by the fire with Santa and Mrs. Claus, chatting away, munching on treats, and drinking cups of HOT CHOCOLATE. Mrs. Claus's cheddar logs really are out of this world!

"How can I ever thank you for all that you have done, Geronimo?" Santa asked.

I shook my head. "Mmmfl, mmmmfll," I mumbled, my mouth full of cheese.

"Ho! Ho!" He chuckled. "I thought you might not ask for anything in return. You're a real gentlemouse, Geronimo Stilton." He laughed. "But I want to give you a gift anyway."

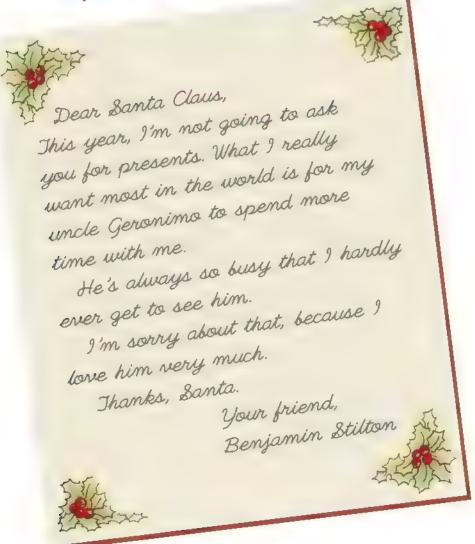

I wondered what Santa would give me.
A new suit? A tie? A box of chocolateCheesy Chews? My mouth began to water just thinking about it.

But instead of a wrapped gift, Santa pulled out a stack of letters. He explained that the letters were from children all over the world. "Every year, I get letters from children asking for dolls and teddy bears, race cars and bicycles. But once in a while, I get a letter from a child asking for something I cannot make," he said. "It makes me very sad. But this year, I think you can help me with one of those letters, Geronimo."

He flipped through the envelopes and handed me a tiny sheet of paper. I couldn't believe my eyes. It was a letter from my favorite nephew, Benjamin:

My heart dropped. "But I love my nephew with all my heart!" I protested. "I always make time for him."

Just then, Santa pulled out a tiny black book. "According to my notes, Geronimo, the last time you played with your nephew Benjamin was exactly ONE month and TWELVE days ago," he said quietly.

Yikes! How EMBARRASSING. How MORTIFYING. How true! My fur turned beet-red. I hadn't been spending much time at all with Benjamin lately. I was so busy with WORK I had forgotten him.

"The real spirit of Christmas isn't just about spending money on gifts, dear Geronimo," Santa said. "It's along spending lime with the ones we love."

I nodded. Santa was right. Even though it made me sad, I was glad he had shown me Benjamin's letter. I would never want to hurt my nephew. I couldn't wait to get back to Mouse Island to see him. But first, I decided to take a quick snooze. After all, traveling around the world in one night can really take a lot out of a mouse.

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING

I was happily snoring away when a loud knock woke me up. Was it SANTA?

I blinked and looked around. What was happening? I was sitting behind my desk at The Rodent's Gazette. streamed through the window. It was morning. How very strange. Had I been sleeping? Was my adventure with Santa all just a dream?

I was still trying to make sense of everything when I heard another loud knock at my door. Two seconds later, Grandfather William burst into the office.

Cheese niblets, here it comes, I thought. Grandfather's going to pull out my whiskers now that he's caught me sleeping on the job. But instead of squeaking about my sleeping on the job, Grandfather William began squeaking about something else.

"Grandson! What are you still doing in the office?" he thundered. "We waited for you all last night. It's Christmas! You need to be with the rodents you love!"

I was so confused. "But, Grandfather, you kept telling me that I needed to work, work, work, work. You said you would take over my job if I didn't," I stammered.

Grandfather William chuckled. "Oh, Grandson, you're so gullible! Don't you know a joke when you hear one?" he squeaked. "Work is important. But your family is the most important thing in the world!"

With that, Grandfather William turned and left the office. Right then, I remembered something. I had never written my article on the true spirit of Christmas.

I wracked my brain for ideas. But I couldn't think of a thing. Not one sentence. Not one word. I was a big blank.

What could I do?

7 ways to Get an Idea

I. Take a per bath with lots and lots of election tackbirs.

f, too a treeyoga.

3. Write with a lawson part or period

to danskal

4 Listers

S. Stand on your head.

A Cur Unio man out of modeling class

ONE MORE CHEESE LOG

Right then, I remembered something my me when I was a young mouse. Just before I left for school she'd say, "The brain cannot function if the body is not well fed.

Always eat a good breakfast and you'll be able to concentrate better."

I fixed myself a n f f f f cup of HOT CHOCOLATE and a fresh cheese log. As I sat nibbling on the yummy cheese log, I thought about my visit with Santa and Mrs. Claus. Oh, what a wonderful dream!

An idea popped into my head. That was it! I could write about my amazing dream.

I sat down at my computer and began typing away. My paws flew across the keyboard like fluttering butterflies. I had so much to tell. So much to share. I wrote about flying with the reindeer, visiting Santa's Toy Factory, and meeting Santa and Mrs. Claus. I even wrote about Ding-Dong and his fall through the ice. I felt like I would never stop typing. But finally, I did.

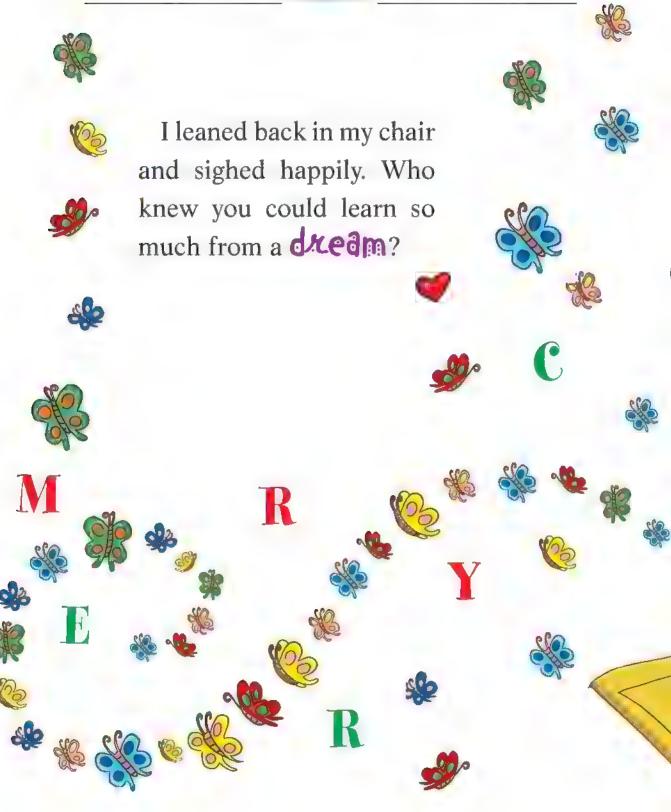

Before I left the office, I decided to make a few phone calls. Well, maybe more than a few. In fact, I guess you could say I called EVERYONE. All of my friends, my relatives, my coworkers.

I needed to tell everyone I was sorry for ignoring them. I invited them all to my house.

"We'll have a great big Christmas party," I said. "Bring your friends, bring your family. We'll all Gelebrate together! After all, that's what the true Christmas spirit is all about!"

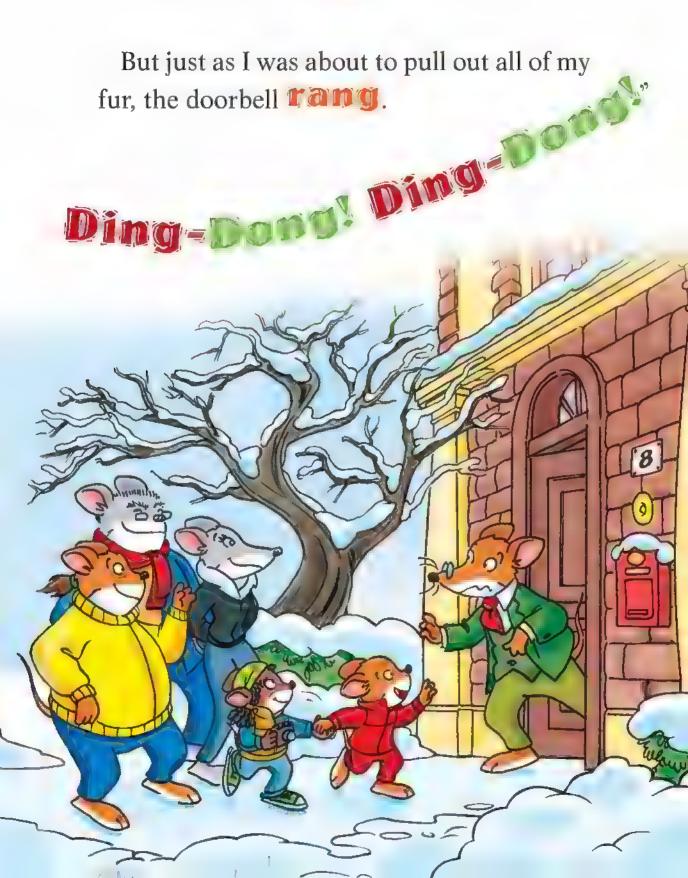

Everyone accepted the invitation. I was so EXCITED. I was finally getting into the Christmas spirit. I couldn't wait to celebrate with my friends and family. I grabbed my coat and ran home as fast as my paws would carry me.

But when I got there, I realized I had forgotten a few things. I didn't have any food in my fridge. I didn't have any Christmas decorations hung up. I didn't even have a single present.

Putrid cheese puffs! What was I thinking? I would never be able to get everything together in such a short time!

WE CAME TO HELP YOU, GERONIMO!

I raced to my front door and yanked it open. A huge crowd stood on my doorstep. I tried to shoo them away. I didn't have time for visitors. I didn't have time for carolers. I didn't have time for salesmice. I had very dear friends and family coming over!

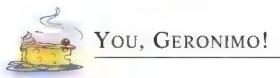

"It's Christmas," I squeaked. "Don't you rodents have somewhere to go?"

The mice aug ned. "We came to help you set up for the party, Geronimo!" they shouted.

I blinked. UOPS. When would I ever learn to stop putting my paw in my mouth? Standing right in front of me were my very dear friends and family!

In a flash, my house was BUSTLING.

Some mice decorated the Christmas tree.

Some started a fire-in the fireplace. Others set the TABLE.

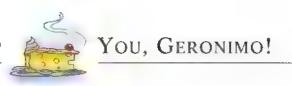

And my good friend Saucy Le Paws whipped up a super fabumouse cheesy lasagna. Do you know Saucy? He's one of the most famouse chefs on Mouse Island.

It was truly a wonderful party. In fact, I think I could honestly say it was the best Christmas I ever had. Cross my paws over my hear?!

It felt good to have my friends and family around. I had been so busy with work at the office, I had forgotten how much I enjoyed just hanging out and squeaking with the ones I loved.

I raised my glass and made a # 35 f.

"Thank you all for coming today. I hope you all know how much I value your friendship, and I'm sorry if I've been ignoring you lately. I let my work take over, and I promise to never let that happen again.

I love you all too much!" I said.

Everyone clapped and frugged me. Well, everyone except my obnoxious cousin Trap. He was too busy stuffing his snout with lasagna. That mouse would eat me out of house and hole if I let him.

Snow, Snow, and More Snow!

We were so busy celebrating, no one noticed the Snow piling up outside. When I finally looked out the window, the Snow was five feet high. And it was still coming down!

"Holey cheese!" I squeaked. "We've never had this kind of a birzzord in New Mouse City before!"

I turned on the TV. We all huddled around it to hear the news. The entire city was buried under snow! The sick and the elderly could not get around because the snow BLOCKED the streets.

New Mouse City's mayor, the Honorable Frederick Fuzzypaws, appeared on the screen.

"Citizens of New Mouse City, we have a problem!" he announced. "The city is paralyzed by snow. Ambulances cannot get to sick rodents. Fire engines cannot get to fires. Cheese delivery trucks cannot get to the Stop and Squeak."

Next to me, my cousin looked faint. "No cheese?" he gasped in HORROR.

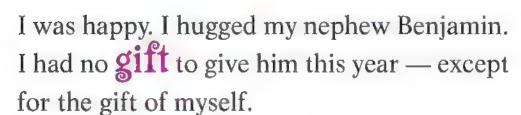

On the screen, the mayor continued. "There is only one way to fix this problem. I ask that every mouse pick up a shovel. Together, we can help New Mouse City!"

I turned off the TV. Everyone looked at one another. It was so and cozy inside my mouse hole. And it was so cold outside. But our city needed us. We armed ourselves with shovels and headed outside.

We shoveled sidewalks and driveways. We shoveled front steps and back steps. We even the whole town square. I was so tired I thought my paws would fall off. Did I mention I'm not much of a MUSCLE MOUSE? Still, I kept on shoveling. By nightfall, the streets of New Mouse City were finally cleared.

We celebrated by drinking cups of steaming HOT CHOCOLATE. I was exhausted, but

"From now on, I will not let work get in the way of our relationship," I told him. "I will always make time for my favorite nephew."

Benjamin's eyes !!! up. I smiled. Outside, a cold December wind rattled the windows. But inside, I felt warm and peaceful.

Oh, what a strange and wonderful Christmas it had been. I'd learned so much from my dream about the North Pole. I thought about Santa and Mrs. Claus. I thought about the elves and the reindeer. I even thought about Ding-Dong, my new elf friend. It all seemed so real!

I stared out the window thinking about everything. And for a minute I thought

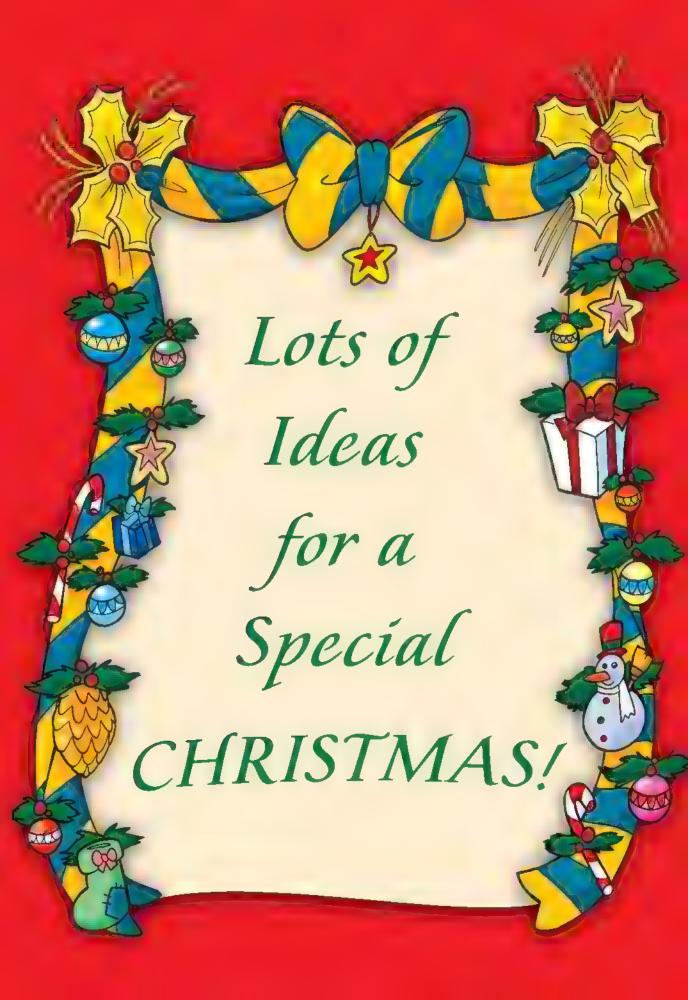

I could almost hear a tiny voice in the distance calling, "Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"

Sparkling Pinecones

What you need: promote sections

The management of the section of

Gather pinecones that have fallen from the trees and dust them lightly with a soft brush.

Paint each pinecone with either the gold or silver paint.

While the paint is still wet, sprinkle glitter on top to make the pinecones sparkle.

Wrap the yarn around the base of each pinecone. Tie the two ends of the yarn together to make a loop.

Hang the pinecone as a decoration on your Christmas tree!

Scented Half-Moons

What you need: three pranges, Knife cutting board, red or green ribbon

Ask an adult to slice the oranges in half, and then in half again on a cutting board, so that you have the shape of a half-moon. Let them dry someplace warm for five days. The top of a radiator is an ideal place.

When the oranges are completely dried, ask an adult to poke a hole through the top of each slice.

Thread a small piece of ribbon through the hole. Tie the two ends together and make them into a bow.

Hang this decoration on your Christmas tree. It will give the whole room a wonderful scent.

Colorful Decorations

What you need: Stine to pro Processins re iftersoft reapply on proceeding or post in min an an and the free to the tholes

Push a Popsicle stick into a Styrofoam ball. Brush a thin layer of glue onto the ball. Take a handful of the same kind of colored seeds and glue them onto the ball. Be sure to place them very close to one another. Let them dry well.

Spread varnish over the seeded ball with a brush.

Once the varnish is dry, remove the Popsicle stick from the ball. Take the ribbon and wrap it around the ball as if you are wrapping a gift, leaving a few inches of ribbon on either end. Tie these into a bow to hang on the Christmas tree.

Repeat the steps above with the rest of the balls, using all the different types of seeds.

What you need: not to the standard with the standard of the st

The state of the property of t

Take the round cookie cutter, and with the pencil, trace it on yellow construction paper. Cut out the shape with safety scissors.

Using the other cookie cutter, trace a star in the center of the yellow circle.

Cut out the star with the safety scissors. The circle should now have a star-shaped hole in its center.

Use a glue stick to apply the transparent paper behind the circle and cut out the excess paper around it. On the right side, carefully apply glue on the transparent paper, and sprinkle glitter over the hollow star.

Ask an adult to make a hole at the top of the decoration. Thread a red ribbon through the hole, make a loop, and hang it on your Christmas tree.

What you need to must be a resonant to the sound of the s

Take the cylinder and cut 2-inch rings from it with the safety scissors. Cut as many as you can from one cylinder.

With the zigzag scissors, cut the red felt into 3-inch-wide strips. Glue them around the cardboard rings.

With the zigzag scissors, cut the green felt into 1-inch-wide strips. Make sure to cut the felt long enough to wrap completely around the tube. Glue the strips around the middle of the red felt on the cardboard rings.

With the safety scissors, cut hearts from the red felt. Glue them on the center of the green felt strip on each ring.

Jolly Tree Place Cards

What you need: In the tent to the place of production of the produ

Draw a Christmas tree on green construction paper. Use the safety scissors to cut around the tree.

With your silver or gold pen, write the name of a guest and a little message on every tree. For example, I love you very much! Or, You are sweeter than a cheesecake!

Fold the trunk of the tree to make a stand, as shown.

A Christmas Box

What you need: trasing paper, pencil, white construction paper or computer paper, safety scissors, a cardboard box, two sponges, red, green, blue, and white paint, thin paintbrush, varnish

With the paintbrush, paint the cardboard box and lid blue.

Take the tracing paper and trace the reindeer on the right with the pencil. Trace the Christmas tree from the previous page as well. Transfer them to white construction paper or computer paper.

Carefully cut out the reindeer and the tree with the safety scissors. Do this without cutting from the edge of the paper. You may need to fold the paper to do this. Discard the deer and tree and keep the hollowed paper.

Lay the hollowed paper with the deer outline on top of the cardboard box. Take a sponge, dip it in the red paint, and use it to color the inside of the deer outline.

Take the outline of the tree and place it on the side of the box. Dip the other sponge into the green paint and use it to color the inside of the tree outline.

With the paintbrush and the white paint, make lots of small dots around the reindeer and the trees.

These should look like snow!

When the colors have dried thoroughly, brush the entire box with varnish and let it dry thoroughly.

Christmas Cookies

What you need: 4 cups all-purpose flour

I cup butter, cut into small pieces, at room temperature

3-quart mixing bowl

wooden spoon

I cup sugar

grated lemon peel from one large lemon

pinch salt

4 large egg yolks

I'/2 teaspoons vanilla extract

plastic wrap

star-shaped cookie cutter

flour for work surface

ASK AN ADULT TO

rolling pin cookie sheet plastic bags

colored ribbon

Ask an adult to preheat the oven to 400°F.

Place flour and butter in the 3-quart mixing bowl. Using fingertips, rub the flour and butter together until the mixture resembles crumbly, coarse cornmeal. Stir in sugar, grated lemon peel, and salt.

Make a well, or hole, in the center of the flour mixture. Place the egg yolks and vanilla into the well. Using your fingertips, quickly and evenly mix dough together. Shape dough into a smooth ball.

Wrap the cookie dough in plastic Refrigerate 30 minutes or until ready to use.

wrap.

Divide the dough into two balls. Work with one ball at a time. Keep the remaining ball chilled.

Using a rolling pin, roll the ball of dough out on a lightly floured surface. Using the star-shaped cookie cutter, cut out twelve cookies. Transfer to the cookie sheet.

Ask an adult to place the cookie sheet in the preheated oven and bake for approximately 10 to 12 minutes, or until the cookies are golden brown.

Ask an adult to remove from the oven, and let the cookies cool. Repeat to make more cookies. Put some cookies into each plastic bag and close it with a bright ribbon.

My Christmas Book

Create a special book where you can write how, where, and with whom you spend Christmas Day each year.

What you need: red construction paper, a large noted or peni sticts sisours, the, afferent colored felt-tip pens

Place a sheet of red construction paper on top of an opened notebook cover. With a pencil. trace the outline of the notebook. Cut out the shape of the notebook with your safety scissors. Glue it on to the cover of the notebook. Be sure the entire notebook, front and back, is covered with the red construction paper.

On the cover, write the title of the book with your favorite color felt-tip pen: My Christmas Book. Use your imagination to decorate it. You may draw on it or cut out Christmas symbols or pictures and glue them on the cover.

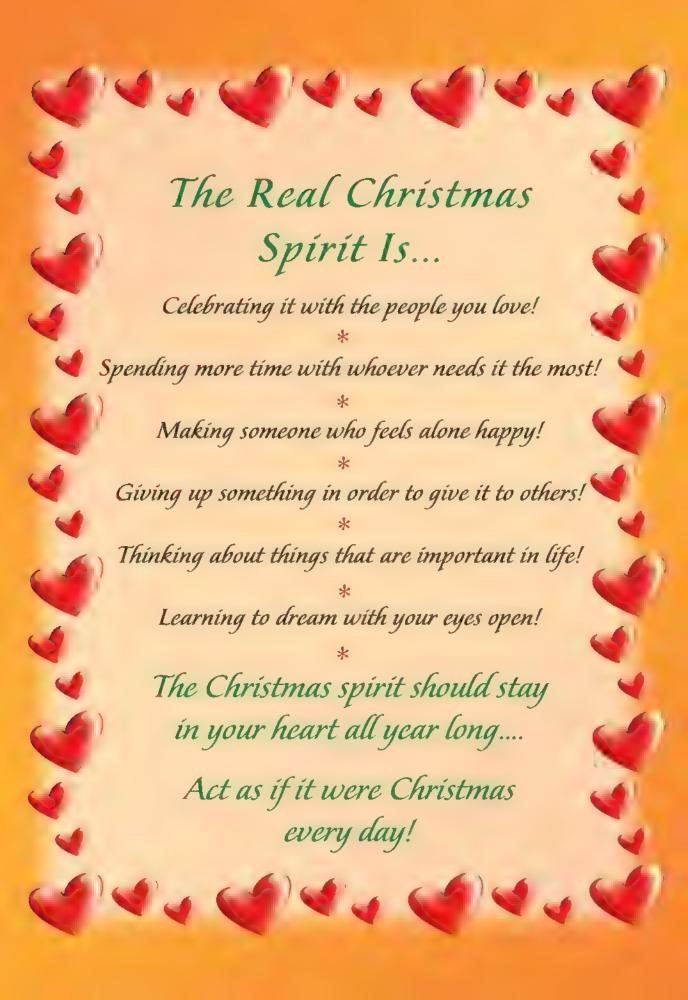

Fill out the book by writing your feelings, funny happenings, Christmas menu, etc. Glue in photos, drawings, Christmas cards, and anything that will remind you of the past Christmas.

year	We played. The best part was At's house

Don't miss any of my fabumouse adventures!

Geronimo Stulton
LOST TREASURE
OF THE EMBRALD EVE

#1 Lost Treasure of the Emerald Eye

#2 The Curse of the Cheese Pyramid

#3 Cat and Mouse in a Haunted House

#4 I'm Too Fond of My Fur!

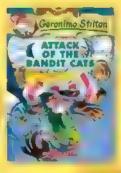

#5 Four Mice Deep in the Jungle

#6 Paws Off, Cheddarface!

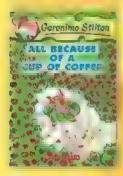

#7 Red Pizzas for a Blue Count

#8 Attack of the Bandit Cats

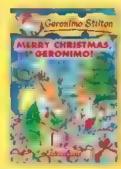

#9 A Fabumouse Vacation for Geronimo

#10 All Because of a Cup of Coffee

#11 It's Halloween, You 'Fraidy Mouse!

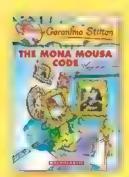

#12 Merry Christmas, Geronimo!

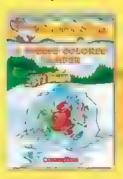

#13 The Phantom of the Subway

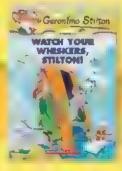

#14 The Temple of the Ruby of Fire

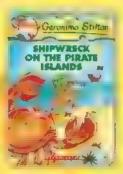

#15 The Mona Mousa Code

#16 A Cheese-Colored Camper

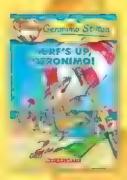

#17 Watch Your Whiskers, Stilton!

#18 Shipwreck on the Pirate Islands

#19 My Name Is Stilton, Geronimo Stilton

#20 Surf's Up, Geronimo!

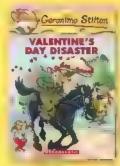

#21 The Wild, Wild West

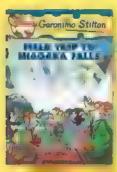

#22 The Secret of Cacklefur Castle

A Christmas Tale

#23 Valentine's Day Disaster

#24 Field Trip to Niagara Falls

#25 The Search for Sunken Treasure

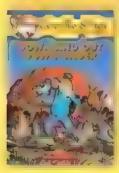

#26 The Mummy with No Name

#27 The Christmas Toy Factory

#28 Wedding Crasher

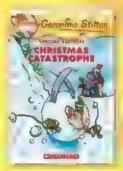

#29 Down and Out Down Under

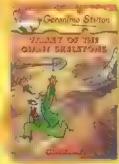

#30 The Mouse Island Marathon

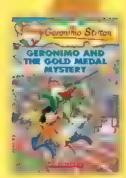

#31 The Mysterious Cheese Thief

Christmas Catastrophe

#32 Valley of the Giant Skeletons

#33 Geronimo and the Gold Medal Mystery

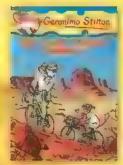

#34 Geronimo Stilton, Secret Agent

#35 A Very Merry Christmas

#36 Geronimo's Valentine

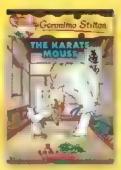

#37 The Race Across America

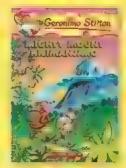

#38 A Fabumouse School Adventure

#39 Singing Sensation

#40 The Karate Mouse

#41 Mighty Mount Kilimanjaro

#42 The Peculiar Pumpkin Thief

#43 I'm Not a Supermouse!

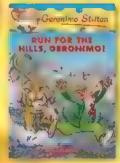

#44 The Giant Diamond Robbery

#45 Save the Whale!

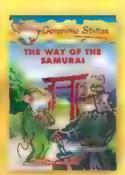

#46 The Haunted
Castle

#47 Run for the Hills, Geronimo!

#48 The Mystery in Venice

#49 The Way of the Samurai

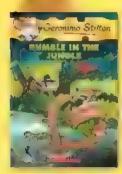

#50 This Hotel Is Haunted

#51 The Enormouse Pearl Heist

#52 Mouse in Space!

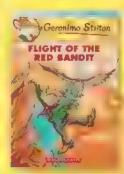

#53 Rumble in the Jungle

#54 Get into Gear, Stilton!

#55 The Golden Statue Plot

#56 Flight of the Red Bandit

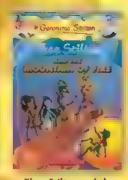

Special Edition: The Hunt for the Golden Book

Check out
these exciting
Thea Sisters
adventures!

Thea Stilton and the Dragon's Code

Thea Stilton and the Mountain of Fire

Thea Stilton and the Ghost of the Shipwreck

Thea Stilton and the Secret City

Thea Stilton and the Mystery in Paris

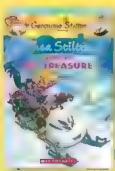

Thea Stilton and the Cherry Blossom Adventure

Thea Stilton and the Star Castoways

Theo Stilton: Big Trouble in the Big Apple

Thea Stilton and the Ice Treasure

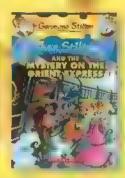

Thea Stilton and the Secret of the Old Castle

Thea Stilton and the Blue Scarab Hunt

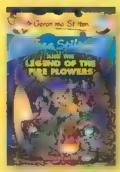

Thea Stilton and the Prince's Emerald

Thea Stilton and the Mystery on the Orient Express

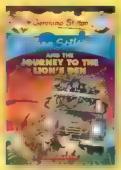

Theo Stilton and the Dancing Shadows

Thea Stilton and the Legend of the Fire Flowers

Thea Stifton and the Spanish Dance Mission

Thea Stilton and the Journey to the Lion's Den

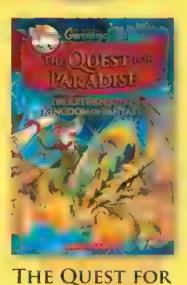

Thea Stilton and the Great Tulip Heist

BLE Sure to read all my adventures
in the Kingdom
of Pankasya

THE KINGDOM OF FANTASY

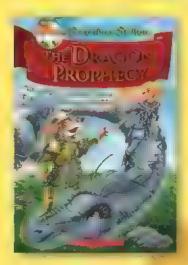

PARADISE:
THE RETURN TO THE
KINGDOM OF FANTASY

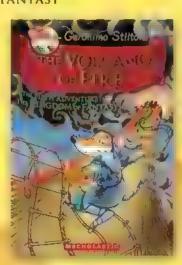

THE AMAZING VOYAGE:

THE THIRD ADVENTURE IN THE KINGDOM OF FANTASY

THE DRAGON PROPHECY:

THE FOURTH ADVENTURE
IN THE KINGDOM
OF FANTASY

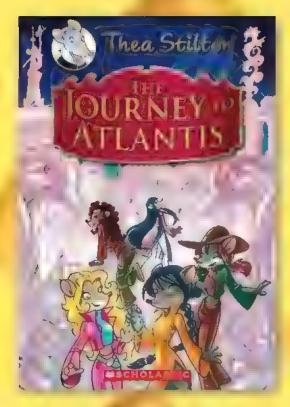

THE VOLCANO OF FIRE:

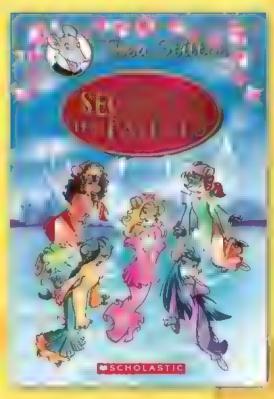

THE FIFTH ADVENTURE
IN THE KINGDOM
OF FANTASY

Check out these very special editions
featuring me
and the Thea Sisters!

THE JOURNEY TO ATLANTIS

THE SECRET OF THE FAIRIES

CREEPELLA VON CACKLEFUR

I, Geronimo Stilton, have a lot of mouse friends, but none as spooky as my friend CREEPELLA VON CACKLEFUR! She is an enchanting and MYSTERIOUS mouse with a pet bat named Bitewing. YIKES I'm a real 'fraidy mouse, but even I think CREEPELLA and her family are AVACULTAN fascinating. I can't wait for you to read all about CREEPELLA in these famouse by funny and spectacularly spooky tales!

#4 Return of the

#5 Fright Nigh

Meet GERONIMO STILTONOOT

He is a cavemouse—Geronimo Stilton's ancient ancestor! He runs the stone newspaper in the prehistoric village of Old Mouse City. From dealing with dinosaurs to dodging meteorites, his life in the Stone Age is full of adventure!

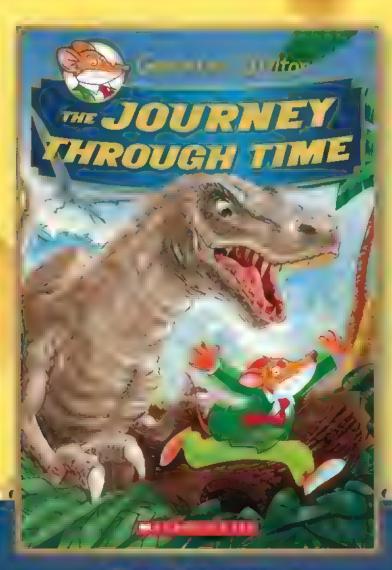

Join me and my friends on a journey through time in this very special edition!

THE JOURNEY
THROUGH TIME

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Born in New Mouse City, Mouse Island, GERONIMO STILTON is Rattus Emeritus of Mousomorphic Literature and of Neo-Ratonic Comparative Philosophy. For the past twenty years, he has been running The Rodent's Gazette, New Mouse City's most widely read daily newspaper.

Stilton was awarded the Ratitzer Prize for his scoops on The Curse of the Cheese Pyramid and The Search for Sunken Treasure. He has also received the Andersen 2000 Prize for Personality of the Year. One of his bestsellers won the 2002 eBook Award for world's best ratlings' electronic book. His works have been published all over the globe.

In his spare time, Mr. Stilton collects antique cheese rinds and plays golf. But what he most enjoys is telling stories to his nephew Benjamin.

Map of New Mouse City

Industrial Zone 1. 24. The Daily Rat 2. Cheese Factories The Rodent's Gazette 25. 3. Angorat International 26. Trap's House Fashion District 27 Airport 4. WRAT Radio and 28. The Mouse House Television Station Restaurant Cheese Market 5. 29. Environmental Fish Market Protection Center 6. Town Hall Harbor Office 7. 30. 8. Snotnose Castle 31. Mousidon Square The Seven Hills of Garden 9. Mouse Island 32. Golf Course Mouse Central Station 33. Swimming Pool 10. Trade Center 34. Tennis Courts 11. Movie Theater Curlyfur Island 12. 35. 13. Amousement Park Gym 36. 14. Catnegie Hall Geronimo's House Historic District 15. Singing Stone Plaza 37. 16. The Gouda Theater 38. Public Library Grand Hotel 17. 39. Shipyard Mouse General Hospital 40. Thea's House 18. 19. Botanical Gardens 41. New Mouse Harbor 20. Cheap Junk for Less 42. Luna Lighthouse 43. The Statue of Liberty (Trap's store) Aunt Sweetfur and 21. 44. Hercule Poirat's Office Benjamin's House 45. Petunia Pretty Paws's

House

House

Grandfather William's

46.

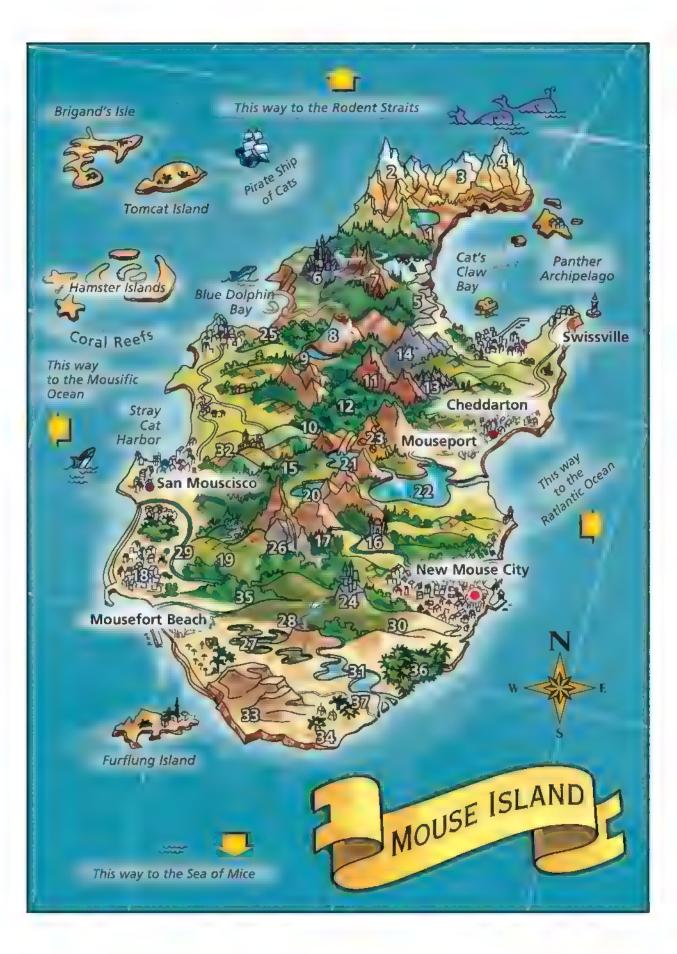

Mouseum of

Modern Art

University and Library

22.

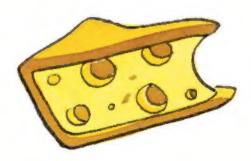

23.

Map of Mouse Island

- 1. Big Ice Lake
- 2. Frozen Fur Peak
- 3. Slipperyslopes Glacier
- 4. Coldcreeps Peak
- 5. Ratzikistan
- 6. Transratania
- 7. Mount Vamp
- 8. Roastedrat Volcano
- 9. Brimstone Lake
- 10. Poopedcat Pass
- 11. Stinko Peak
- 12. Dark Forest
- 13. Vain Vampires Valley
- 14. Goose Bumps Gorge
- 15. The Shadow Line Pass
- 16. Penny Pincher Castle
- 17. Nature Reserve Park
- 18. Las Ratayas Marinas
- 19. Fossil Forest
- 20. Lake Lake

- 21. Lake Lakelake
- 22. Lake Lakelakelake
- 23. Cheddar Crag
- 24. Cannycat Castle
- 25. Valley of the Giant Sequoia
- 26. Cheddar Springs
- 27. Sulfurous Swamp
- 28. Old Reliable Geyser
- 29. Vole Vale
- 30. Ravingrat Ravine
- 31. Gnat Marshes
- 32. Munster Highlands
- 33. Mousehara Desert
- 34. Oasis of the Sweaty Camel
- 35. Cabbagehead Hill
- 36. Rattytrap Jungle
- 37. Rio Mosquito

Dear mouse friends,
Thanks for reading, and farewell
till the next book.
It'll be another whisker-licking-good adventure, and that's a promise!

Geronimo Stilton

GERONIMO STILTON

THEA

TRAP

BENJAMIN

Who is Geronimo Stilton?

That's me! I run a newspaper, but my true passion is writing adventure stories. Here in New Mouse City, the capital of Mouse Island, my books are all bestsellers! My stories are funny, fa-mouse-ly funny. They are whisker-licking-good tales, and that's a promise!

THE CHRISTMAS

Ho, ho, ho! I love Christmas in New Mouse City. But this year, there was just too much work to do at my newspaper, The Rodent's Gazette. I was so busy, I could hardly even squeak! And my friends and family were getting their tails in a twist because I didn't have time to celebrate. Cheese niblets! If only I had my own team of reindeer and could fly far, far away to Santa's Toy Factory....

₩SCHOLASTIC

www.scholastic.com/ geronimostilton

RL3 007-010